White in the city she will also be a source for the rounds of the family at which she will play free or for her original compositions, which she intends to have published as soon as her return to action. This may be several artists of the first rank but among them is a population, and it might be among the best, that will be drawn to this young artist all over the country.

Refinery Fire Not So Bad

W. J. Hermon has returned from Tulsa and says that the damage done by the fire the other day was not so great as it looked but that it was a good fire and after all, Hermon was a hard worker and he will be back again. The exact cause of the loss is not known but it is believed that the pump house and one or two minor buildings had not reached the storage tanks that contained crude oil or the tanks that were filled with refined products.

We were unable to fully corroborate his statement, which is the result of the fact that Mr. Hermon said he had no knowledge of the business gained by his experience as oil administrator, was greatly impressed with what he saw.

It seemed that yesterday when there was an apparent shortage of crude and it was thought for time that there must be a closing down of some of the refineries in the mid-continent in order to save the oil for the pipe lines that it might be transported to the seaboard in the shortest possible time and with the least interruption.

Then, as though providentially, the great fields at Turner and Burkman net were brought in and Mr. Requa's anxiety was doubtless much relieved. He has seen all this new development during the last few days and best of all, has inspected for the first time at least two of the greatest leases in Oklahoma.

Through an error in the headlines in yesterday's afternoon World, it was made to appear that Mr. Requa was contemplating moving to Tulsa, which of course is a mistake as though he is much in love with all he has seen here, he visited the great plant across the river and will doubtless carry with him the memory of Tulsa's wonderful refinery, which did its full share to help win the war.

Mr. Requa should come often. He will be very welcome here. He made a great impression on the active heads of the Sinclair and Cushing organizations, having been accompanied by the top men of the Cushing field and the Gaspar by Messrs. Grayson, Marion, Martin and Taylor and all were strong for him as a man who not only has a great knowledge of the oil business, but who is especially agreeable as a citizen and probably he shant say it is likely that the party will leave for the east by noon today.

A. D. Moffett to Have a Much Needed Rest

A. D. Moffett left last night for Battle Creek, Mich., and expects to stay for at least six months and will take a much needed rest.

Mr. Moffett will be greatly missed in Tulsa where he is greatly beloved and will carry with him the good wishes of a large circle of friends who are all hoping for his speedy recovery. The oil men have looked to Mr. Moffett for inspiration for a long time. His ideals are high and he has set an example that is worthy of emulation. His work for the betterment of the employees of the big oil fields, refining and perhaps not fully appreciated, is nevertheless, deserving of the greatest praise. His sole ambition has been for the betterment of the moral condition of the men in the plant and for the upholding of a loyal and unwavering fidelity to the organization.

A. D. Moffett has been the means of doing great good and his spirit of fairness has for a long time been looked upon as the token of the highest type of manhood. May he come back fully restored in health.

Talented Young Musician Here

Miss Maxine Travis, daughter of Barney Travis, one of Tulsa's most prominent oil producers, arrived in Tulsa yesterday morning from Chicago, where she has been attending the Bush conservatory of music, to spend the Easter holidays with her parents.

Miss Travis, who uses the name of Maxine Rabinovitz for her professional work, is a well educated, trained and very accomplished young musician, and it is said by all who have heard her play, is destined to become famous some day soon.
